The National Commander

My dear General Donovan:

The Regular Veterans Association of the United States has kept pace with the great work which the OSS has done in the field of special intelligence in Europe, and more particularly in Italy. We veterans, like yourself, appreciate the value of special intelligence, both in war and in peace.

As the result of your activities and courageous missions, many soldiers of our Army have had their lives saved, and the war has been shortened in Italy. We are all in accord that one of the finest and most efficient jobs of intelligence was performed by your men against tremendous odds. In this connection, we especially recognize the unselfish devotion to duty and the tireless efforts of your trusted aide, the chief of the Italian section.

In recognition of the distinguished work of Mr. Earl Brennan, the National Council of Administration of the Regular Veterans Association has unanimously voted to present to him our organization's Distinguished Service Certificate and Medal, given to Americans who have done an outstanding service to our country. We should be honored to have you, his chief, present when this presentation is made; and we should also like your permission to make the presentation either here in Washington or in New York, some time within the next thirty days, whenever you feel that it would be suitable. yes

We are very happy indeed, Sir, to have the opportunity of honoring the service of such a man as Mr. Brennan. We would greatly appreciate your informing us of the date that would be most suitable to you.

Very truly yours,

Wm. Floyd

Dear Earl -

I do not want to leave without expressing my appreciation of the fine work which you have done for this organization and of the splendid results which that work has achieved.

Recent developments will necessitate certain modifications in the organization of this work abroad, which I would like to discuss with you when I return. However, I want to let you know now that I am certain that the job could not have been accomplished without your energy, initiative, and unswerving devotion to this task.

Sincerely,

Dear General Donovan:

This letter is to recommend Mr. Arnold Brewer, a teacher at the Pomfret School. Mr. Brewer is a veteran of the last war, having served overseas as a junior officer in the Artillery. He has long been a teacher at the Pomfret School and both from his experience in France and from his studies since he is thoroughly familiar with the French language, speaking it and writing it fluently.

I can recommend Mr. Arnold Brewer most highly. I have known him since we were small boys in school together. He is a man of high intelligence and ability and his loyalty to his country could never be questioned.

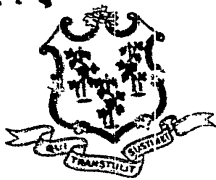

He has a boy already in the service. He is very anxious to serve his country in this war. Would you need a man of his qualifications in your service? I would be very happy if you would talk with him.

Yours very sincerely,
